HOW WE SERVE RESIDENTS

OCFP Residents Committee: For residents by residents

The OCFP Residents Committee includes representatives from the province's six medical schools, as elected by fellow residents. The committee promotes OCFP offerings with residents and also informs the organization's work.

Check out these resident-focused initiatives from the OCFP and reach out to us (residents@ocfp.on.ca) or your Residents Committee rep to learn how you can get involved.

Event Support

The OCFP's Residents Fund supports events that promote and/or advance family medicine and is available to eligible medical students and residents.

Until March 2021, there is an additional "COVID fund" available for each of the six medical schools.

Survival Guide

Family Medicine Residency: A Survival Guide is a comprehensive resource developed by residents for residents. Hosted on the Residents page of the OCFP website, the Guide's first-hand information includes tips and checklists, key websites and phone numbers, and other resources for residency and in transitioning to practice.

Podcasts

A four-part podcast series featuring early-years physicians as they share insights on physician wellness, transitioning to practice, leadership skills and more.

The OCFP's annual conference offers the latest learning for family physicians – practical, relevant and readily applied to family medicine practice.

Significant discounts are available to residents and medical students, and you can bank your credits to report later.
